

Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions to become one with BeaconMedaes

October 04, 2021 – Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions announces its integration into BeaconMedaes. The integration will provide clarity for external partners and regulatory bodies, enable the acceleration of production lead times and response times, and strengthen the focus on innovation.

Today, Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions announces the start of its next chapter as it integrates into the BeaconMedaes brand. This move marks the final step of the acquisition of Penlon Medical Gas Solutions by Atlas Copco in 2012. All Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions employees are being welcomed to the BeaconMedaes group and will continue to provide their support to all existing and new customers.

“Combining these two brands will enable us to offer our customers unrivalled insight and expertise accrued over 120 years of experience in the medical gas industry”, says Martin Berry, Global Sales Manager of Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions.

By becoming one brand, Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions and BeaconMedaes will eliminate confusion in the market and amongst regulatory bodies about the distinction between the two brands, both of which are distributed in the United Kingdom by Atlas Copco Medical Ltd. The integration will also enable BeaconMedaes to simplify their go-to-market processes and internal systems, resulting in accelerated production and response times. By combining forces, the brand will be able to strengthen its focus on developing innovative products and tailored solutions that suit its customers and their patients even better.

The changes will be implemented throughout the last quarter of 2021 and the integration of Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions into BeaconMedaes will be complete by January 2022. Between now and June 2022, Pneumatech Medical Gas Solutions branded products will be phased-out by being re-branded as BeaconMedaes or, in some instances, replaced by alternatives from the existing BeaconMedaes portfolio.
